REPORT OF ORGANIZATIONAL ACTIONS AFFECTING BASIS OF SECURITIES

CONSULT YOUR TAX ADVISOR

The information contained herein is being provided pursuant to the requirements of Section 6045B of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"). This attachment includes a general summary regarding the application of certain U.S. federal income tax laws and regulations relating to the effects of the Distribution (as defined below) on the tax basis of shares of Honeywell International Inc. ("HON") common stock, and the allocation of tax basis among shares of HON common stock and Solstice Advanced Materials, Inc. ("SOLS") common stock following the Distribution. The information contained herein does not constitute tax advice and does not purport to be complete or to describe the consequences that may apply to particular categories of shareholders. Neither HON nor SOLS provides tax advice to its shareholders. The example provided below is illustrative and is being provided pursuant to Section 6045B of the Code and as a convenience to shareholders and their tax advisers when establishing their specific tax position. You are urged to consult your own tax advisors regarding the particular consequences of the Distribution to you, including the applicability and effect of all U.S. federal, state, and local tax laws and foreign tax laws.

We urge you to read the Information Statement filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on September 30, 2025, noting especially the discussion therein under the heading "U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences of the Distribution." You may access the Information Statement at www.sec.gov.

Line 14. Describe the organizational action and, if applicable, the date of the action or date against which shareholders' ownership is measured for the action.

On October 30, 2025, HON distributed 100% of the common stock of SOLS to the holders of HON common stock of record as of October 17, 2025 (the "Distribution"). In the Distribution, each such shareholder (each, a "Shareholder") received 1 share of SOLS common stock for every 4 shares of HON common stock held as of the record date.

With respect to fractional shares of SOLS common stock, the paying agent aggregated all of such fractional shares of SOLS common stock, sold such shares, and distributed the aggregate cash proceeds to each Shareholder who otherwise would have been entitled to receive a fractional share of SOLS common stock in the Distribution.

Line 15. Describe the quantitative effect of the organizational action on the basis of the security in the hands of a U.S. taxpayer as an adjustment per share or as a percentage of old basis.

As a result of the Distribution, each Shareholder will be required to allocate the aggregate tax basis in its HON common stock held immediately prior to the Distribution among the HON common stock and SOLS common stock received in the Distribution (including fractional shares of SOLS common stock settled in cash) in proportion to the relative fair market values of the HON common stock and SOLS common stock. Further, Shareholders that have acquired shares of HON common stock at different times or at different prices (i.e., hold different blocks of HON common stock) will need to calculate their tax basis in the HON common stock in each block and then allocate a portion of that tax basis between the HON common stock and the SOLS common stock received with respect to those shares.

U.S. federal income tax law does not specifically prescribe how you should determine the fair market values of the HON common stock and SOLS common stock for purposes of allocating your tax basis. You should consult your tax advisor to determine what measure of fair market value is appropriate.

There are several possible methods for determining the fair market values of the HON common stock and SOLS common stock. One possible approach is to utilize the volume-weighted average price (VWAP) of the HON common stock and SOLS common stock on October 30, 2025, the date of the Distribution, $200.97 and $49.61, respectively. Other valuation methodologies may exist, however, and we urge you to consult your tax advisor regarding these basis allocation calculations.

Based on that approach, and the assumptions and calculations set forth in Item 16 below, as a consequence of the Distribution, each Shareholder would allocate approximately 94.1874% of its aggregate tax basis in its HON common stock held immediately before the Distribution to its HON common stock and approximately 5.8126% to the SOLS common stock received in the Distribution.

Other approaches to determine fair market value may also be possible. You are not bound by the approach illustrated below and may, in consultation with your tax advisor, use another approach in determining fair market values for the HON common stock and SOLS common stock for this purpose.

Line 16. Describe the calculation of the change in basis and the data that supports the calculation, such as the market values of securities and the valuation date.

The aggregate basis of the HON common stock and SOLS common stock held by each Shareholder immediately after the Distribution will be the same as the aggregate basis of the HON common stock held immediately before the Distribution, allocated between the HON common stock and the SOLS common stock in proportion to their relative fair market values.

As an example, a Shareholder who held 100 HON common shares, which was acquired before the Distribution for $100/share, for an aggregate basis of $10,000, would have received 25 shares of SOLS common stock. Utilizing the VWAP methodology described above, such Shareholder would allocate 94.1874% of his or her basis ($9,418.74 or approximately $94.19/share) to his or her HON common stock and 5.8126% of his or her basis ($581.26 or approximately $23.25/share) to the SOLS common stock received in the Distribution.

Line 17. List the applicable Internal Revenue Code section(s) and subsection(s) upon which the tax treatment is based.

Sections 355, 358, and 368(a)(1)(D).

Line 18. Can any resulting loss be recognized?

No loss may be recognized by a Shareholder upon receipt of SOLS common stock in the Distribution.

With respect to any cash received by a Shareholder in lieu of a fractional share of SOLS common stock, loss (if any) may be recognized.

Line 19. Provide any other information necessary to implement the adjustment, such as the reportable tax year.

The tax basis allocation adjustments resulting from the Distribution are generally effective as of the date of the Distribution, October 30, 2025. For a Shareholder whose taxable year is a calendar year, the reportable tax year is 2025.
